

The First 7 Days at Home

A calm start helps your new baby feel safe and secure.

Keep the first day quiet

Place the cage in a calm family area and allow your bird time to observe. Avoid overwhelming them with constant handling.

Maintain familiar food

Offer the same foods and routine your baby had while being raised. Check that food is being eaten and water is accessible.

Build trust slowly

Sit nearby, speak gently and offer treats. Short positive interactions are better than forcing long handling sessions.

Watch their droppings

Changes can happen with stress, but not eating, sitting fluffed, breathing changes or marked lethargy require prompt avian-vet advice.

BABY BEAKS TIP

Your baby does not need to perform or cuddle immediately. Safety and trust come first - the bond follows.
